

Banking

Sweeping changes across the Banking industry demand innovative and experienced legal representation. Schuyler, Roche & Crisham has a long history of representing Banking clients, serving large financial institutions as well as small regional or community banks.

Schuyler, Roche & Crisham attorneys are highly qualified specialists, with decades of Banking industry experience. Supported by our firm's practical, multi-disciplinary approach, our attorneys routinely engage in the structure and negotiation of credit transactions, counsel and advice on regulatory matters, credit restructuring and matters involving specialized areas of finance. Our attorneys have substantial experience representing bank trust departments in probate and other court proceedings.

As seasoned litigators, our attorneys are adept at representing banks in bankruptcy, commercial foreclosures and fraud litigation matters at both the state and federal level, and in achieving favorable outcomes in proceedings with regulatory agencies or arbitration panels.
